Association

Program: Withstanding Disasters

Wayne Estabrooks, KJ4GDW, will talk about preparing to withstand disasters.

He experienced and learned much from his 40 plus years working in the PBS broadcasting system. Some of the items covered are hurricanes, ice storms, lightning, fires / explosions, emergency power systems, pandemics/epidemics, and infrastructure improvements. The talk will detail improvements made to strengthen the broadcast systems to better withstand or resist these disasters and allow uninterrupted operation of the broadcast facilities. Much of this translates quite readily to amateur radio facilities.

Wayne recently retired as Chief Engineer for UNC TV.

[Note: It's time to renew your DFMA membership.
